This Agreement is in no sense to be taken as a discouragement to direct negotiations where a solution can be reached by such means without having recourse to the grievance procedure hereinafter provided.

5.1 The Company and the Union agree that it is most desirable to resolve misunderstandings and disputes through discussions between the employee and the Manager, and both the Company and the Union shall encourage employees to discuss their complaints with their Manager so as to resolve differences quickly and directly. No employee shall file a grievance until they have first given their manager the opportunity to settle the complaint, except for those complaints referred to in article 5.10. Time spent in such informal settlement discussion shall not reduce the time limit for the filing of a formal grievance as provided in 5.2 below. If such informal discussion does not result in a satisfactory resolution to the employee's complaint, the complaint may be referred to the grievance procedure as follows:

5.2 Formal grievances, whether individual or executive, shall be raised within fourteen (14) calendar days of the date on which the grievance becomes apparent, or ought to have become apparent. Notice of intent to enter into arbitration must be received within a further sixty (60) calendar days subsequent to the Step 2 settlement period. Prior to this time limit's expiry, this time limit may be extended by mutual agreement between the two parties. Such requests shall not be unreasonably denied.

5.5 Arbitration - In the case of any dispute arising between the parties regarding the meaning or alleged violation of this Agreement which the parties are unable to settle between themselves, the matter may be referred to a single Arbitrator. The Arbitrator shall be selected jointly between the Company and the Union. If the two parties fail to agree on the appointment of the Arbitrator, it shall be requested that the Chairperson of the Canada Industrial Relations Board shall appoint the Arbitrator.

The request to act shall be made in writing within fourteen (14) calendar days from the date of notice from either party to the other of its desire to refer the matter to Arbitration. The person appointed shall be duly empowered to act as sole Arbitrator.

The Arbitrator shall not have any authority to alter or change any of the provisions of this Agreement, or to substitute any new provisions in lieu thereof, or to give any decision contrary to the terms and provisions of the Agreement, but it is agreed that where disciplinary action is involved, the Arbitrator shall have the power to award a penalty or amend a penalty imposed by the Company. Costs shall be shared between the Employer and eligible employees with adjustments to provide for the most advantageous tax position for employees. The benefit year is October 1 to September 30.

The plan descriptions below are effective as soon as administratively feasible post-ratification of this Agreement. All claims are subject to the insurance carrier's approval and, in certain cases, market-based maximums. If there is a discrepancy between the plan document and the language in this collective agreement, the plan document will be considered correct.

A summary booklet of the current coverages is provided upon enrolment and again when major changes are implemented. Copies are also available upon request by any participating employee from the Employer's Human Resources Manager or designate.

- Preventative Procedures- 100%
- Basic procedures – 100%
- Major procedures– 50%

Re: Overtime Thresholds

The cyclical nature of the business may result in overtime being requested beyond the maximum for any individual employee on occasion.

Employees have the right to choose to work beyond the maximum hours that are required by the Canada Labour Code if they so wish.

If an employee agrees to work overtime past their allowable limit as outlined in the Canada Labour Code, but then determines after they are assigned they do not wish to work above the limit, the following guidelines must be followed,

1. The employee must receive permission from the Manager, or Supervisor/alternate Manager in his/her absence, to leave before the end of their assigned duties, shifts or scheduled hours which the employee has already begun on that particular day.
2. If an employee requests they not work an agreed to shift less than 48 hours from the commencement of the extra shift or scheduled hours, the employee must receive permission from the Manager, or Supervisor/alternate Manager in his/her absence to leave before the end of their assigned duties, shifts or scheduled hours. The Manager, or Supervisor/alternate Manager in his/her absence, shall determine how the impact will affect the operation of the systems directly related to this employee and attempt to reschedule other staff or operation needs in order to accommodate the refusal to work. However, if the schedule cannot be altered then the pre-agreed extra hours must be worked by the employee.
3. If the scheduled extra hours are beyond those outlined in the Canada Labour Code, and the employee has agreed or not disputed the extra shifts/hours but then is asking permission for refusal to work the extra hours at least 7 calendar days in advance, the Manager, or Supervisor/alternate Manager in his/her absence, will grant permission.

Nothing in the above guidelines is meant to change or challenge an employee's rights under the Health and Safety provisions of the Canada Labour Code. It is encouraged that employees read and understand the Canada Labour Code that deals with the above guidelines.

Re: Standby Assignment

Standby Assignment

Standby assignment shall mean any period of time an employee is not on regular duty but has been assigned to standby assignment and must be available to respond to any request to return to duty.

All decisions and efforts must be made to reduce downtime in production in accordance with the following provisions:

- Standby employees must respond to a phone call made from the plant personnel within twenty (20) minutes of the call being made.
- When an employee on standby is required to report to the plant, they must respond to the site without delay, and no later, than one-and-one-half (1.5) hours from receiving the notification.

Employees will be scheduled on standby on a rotational basis from all qualified employees. It shall be the sole and exclusive right of the Company to determine, from time to time, the number of employees, if any, that are designated on standby. This determination will be at the discretion of the Company and therefore the rotation of the system may be flexible.

A standby payment for standby assignment shall be paid to employee(s), so assigned on the following basis:

- Those employees designated as on standby shall be paid 12.5% of their hourly wage for each one (1) hour that they are on standby.

- An employee may elect to either be paid for such standby assignment or be credited with compensatory time off at an amount equal to one (1) hour of regular pay for every eight (8) hour block assigned to be on standby. This compensatory time off must be pre-approved by the Manager, or designate, and taken at a mutually agreeable time. The employee makes such election during the pay period in which the standby assignment is worked and an Employee can only hold an equivalent of one (1) day (8 hours) block of compensatory time at a time.

Provided sufficient notice is given and with the approval of the Company, employees may exchange standby shifts if there is no increase in cost to the Company.

Standby Premium

If the number of standby hours assigned in a two week pay period is thirty-six (36) hours or more, the employee will receive a premium payment of 6.25% of their hourly wage for all hours on standby.
